MARYVALE

Cheektowaga-Maryvale Union Free School District

James M Maloney
Assistant Superintendent

Dear Colleagues,

In keeping with our theme of "Growing Smarter and Stronger Together" our district is looking at ways to maximize our collaborative work to improve student learning. We would like to see our district engaged in a strategic, cohesive process that will create an enduring collaborative learning system that results in maximized learning for all students.

Maryvale already has teams and initiatives in place that are moving our district in this direction. There is a Strategic Planning Committee and a PBIS Team. We have School Improvement Teams and Child Study Teams. We are looking at Data Driven Instruction, 21st Century Skills and Common Core Standards to utilize best practices in the classroom.

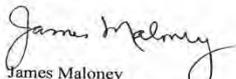

What we don't have is a coordinated, overarching structure that encompasses all of these components in an organized approach. One way to bring all of these pieces together is to think of the Maryvale School District as a Professional Learning Community. Simply defined, a Professional Learning Community is a group of teachers, supported by administrators, working together to identify and utilize best practices in the classroom, so that every student will learn.

We would like to consider how to move our school district from utilizing separate, perhaps at times disjointed initiatives, to forming a community that engages all teachers and administrators in a unified, organized approach to improve learning for every student.

We are working with a consultant, Juanita Davies, who will be with us on October 8th and 9th to help us in this process. Juanita is a professional development specialist with more than 20 years experience in helping school districts and corporations throughout the United States to maximize their effectiveness. She recently spoke at the New York State Department of Education Conference about the process she used with the Webster Central School District to help them achieve national recognition as a high performing Professional Learning Community.

Juanita will be meeting with a cross section of stakeholders from our district to help us determine where we are currently in terms of working together effectively as a Professional Learning Community and how we can strengthen our collaborative efforts. She will talk with administrators, principals, assistant principals, teacher leaders and other teachers to obtain input on ways that we can grow stronger and smarter together.

Sincerely yours

James Maloney

DDI - SMAART Goal Development

Maryvale School District
Data Driven Instruction

SMAART Goals

SMAART goals help improve student achievement. A SMAART goal clarifies exactly what is expected and the measures used to determine if the goal is achieved and successfully completed.

A SMAART goal is:

Specific – detailed outcome criteria

The goal should state the exact level of performance expected.

Measurable – measurement criteria

To achieve objectives, educators must be able to observe and measure student progress.

Attainable – realistic criteria

Goals should challenge students to do their best, but they also need to be achievable.

Action – action oriented

Goals are stated in terms of action being taken.

Relevant – significance criteria

Goals need to pertain directly to the standard being measured and related to strategic plan.

Timeframe – answers “by when?” criteria

Deadlines establish consistent measurement time frames, allowing revisions to be made at specific points.

D. Positive Behavioral Support Systems

PBIS: Maryvale SOARS

What is PBIS & SOAR?

PBIS is a proactive approach to establishing the behavioral supports and social culture needed for all students to achieve social, emotional and academic success.

SOAR is Maryvale High School's implementation of PBIS, which includes the recognition of positive behaviors.

Student expectations are clearly explained and posted throughout the school.

The Maryvale Union Free School District is a welcoming community that provides opportunities to grow as responsible, productive and involved citizens who possess self-motivation, a love of learning and respect for self and others.
