The assessment was developed based on learning standards and the district curricular by content level teachers. Assessments were submitted to administration for approval. The assessments are administered under secure conditions similar to the 3-8 and Regent's exams. Scantron sheets are used for multiple choice questions; answers are scanned. Written responses and product based assessments are scored by teams of teachers.

Please provide an overview of the student-level growth model or target setting model for SLOs for districts and BOCES, along with how student-level growth scores are aggregated to the create teacher-level scores, and how those teacher-level scores are converted to New York State's 0-20 metric.

The standards and curricula are used by teachers to determine the knowledge and skills a student should obtain during the instructional period. The minimum target for all students is one year's expected growth. Student targets may vary based on their individual levels of present performance and student learning needs. The building principal certifies that all SLO targets represent at least one year's expected growth. SLO's are submitted to the superintendent. The teacher scores are based on the number of students who reach the stated target. The number of students who reach the target is converted to the HEDI band to determine the teacher rating.

The assessment is rigorous, meaning that it is aligned to the New York State learning standards or, in instances where there are no such learning standards that apply to a subject/grade level, alignment to research-based learning standards.	x
To the extent practicable, the assessment must be valid and reliable as defined by the Standards of Educational and Psychological Testing.	x
The assessment can be used to measure one year's expected growth for individual students.	x
For K-2 assessments, the assessment is not a "Traditional Standardized Assessment" as defined in Section 1.3 of this RFQ.	x

For assessments not previously used in teacher/principal evaluation, the applicant has a plan for collecting evidence of differentiated student results such that the evidence will be available by the end of each school year.	x
At the end of each school year, the applicant will collect evidence demonstrating that the assessment has produced differentiated student-level results and will provide such evidence to the Department upon request. ⁴	x
