

January 11, 2017

Greetings:

This table compares the plans and progress states have made with respect to revising leadership standards to conform to 2015 Professional Standards for Educational Leaders.

The source for this material is Mary-Dean Barringer (Strategic Initiative Director for the Education Workforce at the Council of Chief State School Officers) and Jessica Leacher (Program Coordinator for the Education Workforce at CCSSO)

In addition to this, an individual at the American Institute for Research (Matt Clifford) reports that Iowa has undertaken an alignment study that positions the state to revise its leadership standards, in light of the 2015 PSELs.

Cheers,
Ken

State	Yes, my states has revised its leadership standards to align with PSEL.	No, my states has not revised its leadership standards to align with PSEL.	If you have not revised your leadership standards, are there plans for review?
Arkansas		X	Yes
Colorado		X	Yes
Connecticut		X	No
Delaware	X
DoDEA		X	Yes
Indiana		X	Yes
Kentucky		X	X
Maine		X	Yes
Minnesota	X
Missouri	X
Nebraska	X
New Jersey		X	Yes, in process of reviewing with PSEL, looking at full adoption
New York		X	Yes
North Carolina		X	Possibly
Ohio		X	Yes
Oregon		X	Yes
Pennsylvania		X	No
Rhode Island		X	Yes
South Carolina	X
Tennessee		X	Yes
Vermont		X	Yes
Washington		X	No
West Virginia	X
Wisconsin		X	Yes