The Opening Procedures Checklist (Checklist) has been developed by SED’s Charter School Office to support successful start-up activities for new charter schools authorized by the Board of Regents. Most of the tasks listed in this checklist – such as preparing a facility for educational programming and partnering with initial vendors – are specific to start-up and will occur before or during a school’s opening. Other tasks that may take place after the opening of the school to students that are one-time tasks unique to the first year of the charter are also included.

A number of the tasks listed throughout the Checklist represent exemplary actions that have proven successful in past charter school openings and are recommended by SED. These actions are not required by statute but are meant to provide support and technical guidance to charter schools as they embark upon critical start-up functions that will increase opportunities for academic and operational success. Other tasks are required by federal and state statute or SED policy and are included in the school’s charter contract with SED. Such tasks are considered ‘Prior Actions’ and must be completed before schools can provide instruction and receive public funds. These actions are monitored by SED staff upon submission and during a Prior Actions Site Visit to all new charter schools.

Tasks fall in the three general areas of Academic Program, Organizational Viability; and Material Terms, though please note that checklist, tasks are itemized in discrete subcategories to allow for easier sorting by subcategory or due date. Please note that there are a number of tasks on the checklist that will not generally be directly monitored by SED, but are suggested and provided as guidance (these are shaded in gray).

I. Academic Program: Tasks in this area help to ensure that schools are prepared to carry out functions pertaining to educational programming and general administration, including student learning time, curriculum and instruction, and accountability. These actions are instrumental in creating the academic foundation upon which charter schools should be based. SED will work closely with new schools to ensure that these activities are thoughtfully executed; however, it is the school’s responsibility to maintain this information internally, communicating with the Charter School Office regularly, and following appropriate procedures if there are significant changes to the school’s original application and/or charter agreement.

II. Organizational Viability: Tasks in this area provide guidance to ensure that the school’s leadership and governance model can lead to appropriate oversight of the school’s organizational affairs. Specific requirements in this regard pertain to federal and state statute, as well as strategic recommendations around staffing, leadership and governance, fiscal solvency, education service partnerships, facilities, performance evaluation, and insurance. This section also discusses opening procedures that can help schools effectively implement operational plans around food services, school wellness and health, and technology. It is important to note that Organizational Viability for SED charter schools includes appropriate background checks for all paid and volunteer staff, contractors, and stakeholders that come into contact with students.

III. Material Terms: Tasks in this area provide context for and outline specific terms upon which the school’s charter was granted, including critical student-related matters such as enrollment and admissions procedures, recordkeeping, attendance, and special needs students. Other material terms include policy development and implementation, Title I participation, and general compliance issues. All such terms are included in a school’s charter contract and SED will evaluate the school’s ability to carry out these responsibilities during consistent monitoring and oversight. Any changes to the material terms of the charter require the school board to submit a request for a charter amendment to the Board of Regents.

1 SED contract §§ 1.4 Prior Actions and 6.2 Oversight Plan (a) Section I: Opening Procedures.
2 SED Charter School Office staff will conduct a Prior Action Site Visit at each new school at least two weeks prior to school opening. See Prior Actions memo for additional information.

Notices/Submissions to SED
Please note that school requests, notices, demands, or submissions to SED can be delivered by hand, overnight courier, email, or facsimile by the respective due dates listed in the Checklist. If mailing via prepaid registered or certified mail, documents must be mailed to SED within five days prior to the due date referenced in the Checklist. This is particularly critical for submission dates mandated by the charter contract, and federal and state statute (listed within the ‘Submit to SED’ column). The following recipient will confirm receipt and proceed according to SED protocol and policy:

Susan Megna
Charter School Office
New York State Education Department

Relevant Documents
Many of the actions required or suggested throughout this Checklist were extracted from several regulatory documents with which all charter schools should eventually become familiar. These include, but are not limited to:

• The school’s charter contract with SED
• The school’s Provisional Charter or Certification of Incorporation issued by the Board of Regents
• The school’s By-laws

Other statutory regulations include but are not limited to:

• Not-for-Profit Corporate Law: http://law.onecle.com/new-york/not-for-profit-corporation/NPC0602_602.html

Changes to Charter
Schools will be required to re-submit any major or ‘material’ structural changes to its school model that have occurred since the Regent’s approval of the school’s original application and issuance of its charter. Material changes can include, but are not limited to, modifications to protocols around a school’s educational program, governance, enrollment, student learning time (school calendar), school-level policies, and facilities issues. Such changes may constitute a material change to the charter and require a formal charter revision. All tasks marked within the column entitled ‘Considered Revision of the Charter / Future Changes Require SED Approval’ will apply.4
