Achievement First (AF) schools regularly receive feedback from students, staff, families, and school leaders. Achievement First (AF) schools follow a process of designing "with" not "for", and as part of designing our response to COVID programming we conducted in-depth surveys of families, students, staff, and school leaders.

The AF Brooklyn school board received regular updates on reopening plans and ESSER use of funds and had opportunities to ask questions and provide feedback.

Achievement First has prioritized listening and responding to the needs of scholars, families, and staff on a consistent and ongoing basis. Achievement First will continue to engage its stakeholders in defining its most important educational needs resulting from COVID-19 through:

- Virtual Parent and Family Town Halls on scholars' academic progress and recovery, curriculum shifts and interventions, school buildings' safety plan updates, enrichment programming and social emotional resources
- School boards continue to meet on a bi-monthly basis and receive updates on the academic program, non-academic offerings, facilities' health and safety, student and family experience feedback and expenditures
- School leader cohort meetings at each academy level are held 1 to 2 times each month in which Achievement First network leaders and principals meet to discuss the current state of schools, attendance and classroom engagement, share best practices, review the efficacy of elements of the reopening and safety plans and align on necessary actions
- Accessible, two-way communication and coordination among educators and administrators and Achievement First families via the ParentSquare digital tool. The platform was provided by each school facilitates and encourages engagement about daily school happenings, special events and developments, collect and respond to feedback.
