preparation programs. The work group has been convened in response to one of the edTPA Task Force recommendations. The work group has met four times and will meet once a month through this fall. NEW YORK STATE TEACHER CERTIFICATION EXAMINATIONS (NYSTCE) TEST DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES edTPA Handbook Review Process. Representatives from OHE, New York State higher education, and the Stanford Center for Assessment, Learning, and Equity (SCALE) are collaborating on the development of an edTPA Handbook Review Process in response to one of the recommendations from the edTPA Task Force. This process will enable the New York State higher education community to systemically provide feedback to SCALE on the edTPA handbooks. One step in the process is collecting from faculty, staff, and administrators in New York State educator preparation programs recommendations for specific changes to the edTPA handbooks based on evidence of a systemic issue or misalignment with pedagogy and practice through a survey. The deadline for completing the New York State edTPA Handbook Review Survey has been extended to October 23, 2017. Following the collection of these recommendations, a panel of higher education representatives will review the results, determine if there is consensus regarding particular recommendations for a handbook area, and forward such recommendations to SCALE via NYSED. SCALE will review the recommendations from New York and other states and then consider any possible updates to the handbooks.

Revised Multi-Subject: Secondary Teacher Mathematics Test Framework. In response to feedback from the field, a committee of P-12 educators, higher education faculty, and other NYS stakeholders redeveloped Part Two (Math) of the Multi-Subject: Secondary Teachers Grades 7-12 Content Specialty Test (MST 7-12) for candidates pursuing the Students with Disabilities Grades 7-12 Generalist certificate. The revised Part Two (Math) will be operational in fall of 2018. The revised framework is posted on the NYSTCE website so that educator preparation programs can refer to it for curriculum planning purposes and candidates who plan on taking the test in the fall of 2018 or later can use it along with the upcoming new preparation materials for the test. A memo to the field provides additional details about the revised Part Two (Math) of the MST 7-12.
