I. PURPOSE AND BACKGROUND

This memorandum provides guidance on the transition of children from the Early Intervention Program (EIP) to preschool special education programs and services, other state service delivery systems, or other early childhood services available to support children and their families. To ensure the transition process is successful for families, it is important that parents and professionals understand the requirements for transition and the services available in their communities for young children with, and without, disabilities.

The memorandum:

- briefly describes the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and New York State's Administration of IDEA, including the EIP under Article 25 of the Public Health Law and preschool special education programs and services under Section 4410 of the Education Law;
- describes the components of the transition process for children transitioning from the Early Intervention Program to preschool special education programs and services, including State and federal requirements;
- identifies and describes the components of the transition process for children whose developmental status has improved significantly and who are not eligible for preschool special education programs and services and may – or may not need other early childhood services;
- describes other state service delivery systems that are available to support children with disabilities and their families;
- includes important information about resources available to help families, providers, and public officials with the transition process; and,
- provides answers to questions often asked by parents, providers, Early Intervention Officials, and school district personnel about the transition process.

INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES EDUCATION ACT (IDEA)

IDEA is the federal law that authorizes both the EIP and preschool special education programs and services. Requirements for the EIP are under Part C, and preschool special education programs and services are under Part B of IDEA. IDEA requires states to designate a lead agency responsible for administration and oversight of the EIP and requires the state education agency to oversee Part B special education services for children ages three through twenty-one years.

The Part C EIP is optional to states. States participating in the EIP, including New York, must provide for a comprehensive, statewide, interagency, multidisciplinary early intervention system for eligible infants and toddlers with special needs and their families.

Under Part B of IDEA, all states must provide for a free appropriate public education (FAPE)¹ for children with disabilities ages three through twenty-one years. Parts C and B of IDEA have specific requirements for the transition of children from the EIP to preschool special education programs and services. In addition, Part C requires that all children exiting the EIP have a transition plan to assist them and their families in transitioning from EIP services to other early childhood services as appropriate.

It is also important to note that, unlike general education for children and youth which is mandatory beginning at age five years, participation in both the Early Intervention Program and preschool special education programs and services is voluntary to families.

NEW YORK STATE'S ADMINISTRATION OF IDEA

Early Intervention Program

In New York State, the lead agency for the Early Intervention Program (EIP) is the Department of Health (NYSDOH). As lead agency, NYSDOH is responsible for the general administration of the EIP. In addition, Public Health Law requires the chief elected official of each municipality to designate an Early Intervention Official (EIO)² who is responsible for the local administration of the EIP. The EIO is responsible for ensuring that children ages birth through two years who are at risk for or have a suspected disability are identified and referred to the EIP. Primary referral sources, including health care providers, social service providers, child care providers, providers of EIP services, and a range of professionals involved in caring for young children, are required to refer children at risk for or suspected of having a disability to the EIP, unless the parent objects to a referral. For children at risk, the EIP coordinates screening and tracking to ensure that children are referred for EIP services if they experience developmental delay or disability.

For children with a suspected developmental delay or disability, the EIO must designate an initial service coordinator to assist the family in obtaining an evaluation for their child. The EIO is also responsible for ensuring an individualized family service plan (IFSP) is developed for all children who are evaluated and found eligible for EIP services, and services included in the IFSP are provided. Services provided under the EIP are designed to meet the developmental needs of children and the needs of families related to enhancing their children's development. Eligible children and their families select an ongoing service coordinator and receive the services included in their IFSPs. There are no out-of-pocket costs to families for participation in, or services provided by, the EIP.

¹ Free appropriate public education is defined in IDEA as "special education and related services that: (a) have been provided at public expense, under public supervision and direction and without charge; (b) meet the standards of the State educational agency; (c) include an appropriate preschool, elementary, or secondary school education in the involved State; and, (d) are provided in conformity with the individual education program that meets the requirements of §300.340 – 300.350 34 CFR Parts 300 and 303-§300.13.

² Throughout this document, the term "EIO" will be used to reference both Early Intervention Officials and their designees.

Preschool Special Education Program and Services

The New York State Education Department (NYSED) administers, through local school districts, preschool special education programs and services for preschool students with disabilities, ages 3 to 5 years of age. The board of education (BOE) or trustees of each school district are required, by regulation (Part 200.2(a)), to identify all students with disabilities who reside in the school district and establish a register of children who are entitled to attend public schools in the district or to attend a preschool program during the next school year. In addition, various people can refer a child to the Committee on Preschool Special Education (CPSE), such as the parent, doctor, judicial officer, designated person in a public agency, or someone from an Early Childhood Direction Center, an approved preschool program or the EIP. There are specific requirements for referral of children from the EIP to the CPSE, which will be discussed in detail in this guidance memorandum.

Individual child evaluations to determine eligibility are conducted, and the CPSE, including the parent(s) of the child, develop an Individualized Education Program (IEP) for eligible children, outlining the special education programs and services to address the child's needs.

It is important for families to understand the differences between the EIP and preschool special education. The EIP:

- focuses on enhancing the development of infants and toddlers with disabilities, and minimizing their potential for developmental delay;
- minimizes the need for special education services when children reach school age; and,
- enhances the capacity of families to meet the special needs of their infants and toddlers with disabilities.

The EIP includes a requirement to provide a service coordinator to each family and to ensure that services are provided year round.

Preschool special education focuses on children's educational needs, including:

- ensuring access to the general curriculum for all children; and,
- strengthening the role of parents and ensuring families have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home.

Appendix A, "Comparison of Early Intervention and Preschool Special Education" highlights the key elements of each program.

II. PROGRAMMATIC ELIGIBILITY FOR EARLY INTERVENTION AND PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION

EARLY INTERVENTION PROGRAM

To be eligible for EIP services, a child must have either (1) a developmental delay consistent with the State definition of developmental delay; or, (2) a diagnosed condition with a high probability of developmental delay.

EIP regulations 10 NYCRR Section 69-4.1(g) define developmental delay as follows:

“Developmental delay means that a child has not attained developmental milestones expected for the child’s chronological age adjusted for prematurity in one or more of the following areas of development: cognitive, physical (including vision and hearing), communication, social/emotional, or adaptive development.

A developmental delay for purposes of the EIP is a developmental delay that has been measured by qualified personnel using informed clinical opinion, appropriate diagnostic procedures and/or instruments and documented as:

- a 12 month delay in one functional area; or
- a 33 percent delay in one functional area or a 25 percent delay in each of two areas; or,
- if appropriate standardized instruments are individually administered in the evaluation process, a score of at least 2 standard deviations below the mean in one functional area or of at least 1.5 standard deviations below the mean in each of two functional areas.”

EIP regulations at Section 69-4.3(e) define diagnosed conditions with a high probability of delay as:

- chromosomal abnormalities associated with developmental delay (e.g., Down Syndrome);
- syndromes and conditions associated with delays in development (e.g., fetal alcohol syndrome);
- neuromuscular disorder (e.g., any disorder known to affect the central nervous system, including cerebral palsy, spina bifida, microcephaly or macrocephaly);
- clinical evidence of central nervous system (CNS) abnormality following bacterial/viral infection of the brain or head/spinal trauma;
- hearing impairment (a diagnosed hearing loss that cannot be corrected with treatment or surgery);

- visual impairment (a diagnosed visual impairment that cannot be corrected with treatment including glasses or contact lenses or surgery);
- diagnosed psychiatric conditions, such as reactive attachment disorder of infancy and early childhood; (symptoms include persistent failure to initiate or respond to primary caregivers; fearfulness and hypervigilance that does not respond to comforting by caregivers; absence of visual tracking); and,
- emotional/behavioral disorder (the infant or toddler exhibits atypical emotional or behavioral conditions, such as delay or abnormality in achieving expected emotional milestones such as pleasurable interest in adults and peers; ability to communicate emotional needs; self-injurious/persistent stereotypical behaviors).

In 1999, the NYS DOH issued guidance on diagnosed conditions with a high probability of developmental delay, including a list of conditions and their corresponding International Classification of Diseases (ICD-9) codes that should be used for eligibility purposes.

PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAM AND SERVICES

Education Law and regulations define a preschool student with a disability as either having a disability or disorder in one or more functional areas of development (Part 200.1(mm)), or a specific condition (Part 200.1(zz)), as follows:

A child is defined as having a disability when s/he exhibits a significant delay or disorder in one or more functional areas related to cognitive, language and communicative, adaptive, socio-emotional, or motor development which adversely affects the student's ability to learn. Such delay or disorder must be documented by the results of the individual evaluation which includes but is not limited to information in all functional areas obtained from a structured observation of a student's performance and behavior, a parental interview and other individually administered assessment procedures, and, when reviewed in combination and compared to accepted milestones for child development, indicate:

- a 12 month delay in one or more functional areas; or
- a 33 percent delay in one functional area or a 25 percent delay in each of two functional areas; or
- if appropriate standardized instruments are individually administered in the evaluation process, a score of 2.0 standard deviations below the mean in one functional area, or a score of 1.5 standard deviations below the mean in each of two functional areas.

A preschool child can be classified as a preschool student with a disability if he/she meets the criteria set forth in the current disability classifications in the Part 200 regulations:

- autism;

- deafness;
- deaf-blindness;
- hearing impairment; (not covered under the definition of deafness),
- orthopedic impairment (caused by congenital anomalies, disease, or impairments from other causes);
- other health impairments (including but not limited to heart condition, tuberculosis, sickle cell anemia, asthma);
- traumatic brain injury (acquired); and,
- visual impairment.

In order to be eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, children must have a significant developmental delay that adversely affects the child's ability to learn. A child may also be eligible if the child can be classified as having one of the above disabilities, and the disability has been shown to adversely affect the child's ability to learn.

NYSED has issued the "Guide for Determining Eligibility and Preschool Special Education Programs and/or Services for Preschool Students with Disabilities" to assist professionals and families in understanding eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law (available on the SED Web site, www.vesid.nysed.gov).

III. AGE ELIGIBILITY FOR EARLY INTERVENTION AND PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION

EARLY INTERVENTION PROGRAM

Section 2541 of the Public Health Law (PHL) defines "eligible child" for the Early Intervention Program (EIP) as an infant or toddler from birth through two years of age who has a disability, except that any toddler with a disability who has been determined to be eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law and who:

- turns three years of age on or before August 31, shall, if requested by the parent, be eligible to receive EIP services contained in an Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP) until September 1 of that calendar year; or,
- turns three years of age on or after September 1, shall, if requested by the parent and if already receiving EIP services, be eligible to continue receiving EIP services until January 2 of the next calendar year.

This means that children in the EIP who have been determined eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law before their third birthday (e.g., the day before the child turns three years of age), and who are born during the months of January through August, can, at the option of their parents, remain in the EIP until September 1st

(e.g., through August 31st) of that same calendar year. Children in the EIP who have been determined eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law and who are born during the months of September through December can, at the option of their parents, remain in the EIP until January 2nd (e.g., through January 1st) of the next calendar year.

Section 2541 also provides that any toddler who is receiving preschool special education programs and services under Section 4410 of the Education Law cannot also be an eligible child under the EIP.

Under Public Health Law (PHL), a child's eligibility for the EIP ends as of his or her third birthday, unless the child has been referred to the CPSE and has been found eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law before the date of his/her third birthday. The last date the child is eligible to receive services under the EIP, unless the child has been found eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, is the day before his or her third birthday. For a child referred to the CPSE and found eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law before the child's third birthday, the child's parents can choose either to transition their child to preschool special education; or, choose to have their child remain in the EIP until s/he ages out of EIP.

It is very important for parents to understand that before age three, their children must have been referred, evaluated, and found eligible by the CPSE for preschool special education programs and services, to ensure that services for their children can continue.

It is also important for parents to understand that not all children are appropriate for referral to preschool special education programs and services. Some children make such significant progress from participating in the EIP that they will not need or be eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. Early Intervention Officials, parents, service coordinators, and service providers should review the child's progress as s/he approaches age eligibility for preschool special education to determine whether the child may need services under Section 4410 of the Education Law; is no longer in need of services; or, would benefit from other early childhood services to maintain the developmental gains made in the EIP (see Section IV on Transition Procedures).

PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION

Under Section 4410 of the Education Law and Part 200 regulations, children with disabilities may be determined eligible for preschool special education programs and services by their third birthday or earlier. Part 200.1(mm)(2) defines a child as eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law as follows:

- If the child's birthday falls before July 1st, the child is eligible on January 2nd of the calendar year; otherwise, a child is eligible on July 1st of the calendar year. A child is a preschool child with a disability through the month of August of the school year in which the child first becomes eligible to attend school.

This means that children with birth dates between January 1 and June 30 are first eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law on January 2 of the calendar year during which they turn three years old. Children with birth dates that fall on July 1 through December 31 are first eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law on July 1 of the calendar year during which they turn three.

Children with birth dates that fall on July 1 through December 31st are first eligible for services under Section 4410 of Education Law on July 1 of the calendar year during which they turn three if they require a structured learning environment of twelve months to prevent substantial regression. Services for other children who only need ten months of programs and/or services would begin on the September starting date of the approved preschool program.

CHILDREN REFERRED TO THE EIP WHEN AGE-ELIGIBLE FOR PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION

It is strongly recommended that primary referral sources and parents of children age two and a half or older, who may have a developmental delay or disability and are not in the EIP, contact their school district CPSE to begin the CPSE process.

If a child is referred to the EIP when s/he is age-eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law and has a disability or developmental delay that may impact on his/her education, the EIO may recommend to the parent that s/he refer the child directly to the CPSE rather than continue with the referral to the EIP. However, if a parent chooses to continue with the child's referral to the EIP, the EIO must designate an initial service coordinator and the service coordinator must assist the parent in the receipt of a multidisciplinary evaluation consistent with EIP requirements. The multidisciplinary evaluation must be completed and an IFSP must be developed within forty-five calendar days of the child's referral. The initial service coordinator must also explain to the parent that to ensure the child continues to receive services when s/he turns three – either through the EIP or preschool special education - the child must also be referred to the CPSE and be determined eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law by her/his third birthday. If the child is found eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law by the child's third birthday, the parent then has the option to transition his/her child to preschool special education programs and services, or the child may remain in the EIP until s/he ages out of EIP.

The parent must also be informed that if a child meets the eligibility criteria for the EIP but is not determined to be eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the child's eligibility for EIP services will end at the child's third birthday. The last date that services can be delivered under the child's IFSP under these circumstances is the day before the child's third birthday.

IV. TRANSITION PROCEDURES

TRANSITION PLANNING FOR ALL CHILDREN

A transition plan must be developed for all children exiting the EIP, whether the child will be transitioning to programs and services under Section 4410 of the Education Law or to other early childhood services and supports. It is very important to begin planning for transition as early as possible to ensure a successful transition for the child and family. It is also important for parents, service coordinators, providers, and public officials to work together to:

- review the progress made by the child and family, and consider whether any services may be needed when the child exits the EIP;
- determine whether a referral is appropriate for preschool special education programs and services;
- determine whether the child and family may need services from other programs under the auspices of the NYSDOH, or services administered by other state or local agencies such as the Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (service coordination services, respite, etc), Office of Mental Health (children's mental health services), Office of Children and Family Services (child care services), etc.;
- ensure a transition plan is in place within required timelines to ensure continuity of services, as appropriate, for the child and family, and with parent consent, to incorporate the transition plan into the IFSP;
- develop a transition plan for the child and family, that includes steps to help the child adjust to and function in a new setting; and, procedures to prepare program staff or individual qualified personnel who will be providing services to the child to facilitate a smooth transition; and,
- identify community resources needed by and available to assist the child and family.

If a child has made such significant progress in the EIP that the child and family do not require any type of continuing services, the IFSP should include the steps that will be taken to discharge the child and family from the EIP.

TRANSITION PLANNING FOR CHILDREN FOR WHOM A REFERRAL TO PROGRAMS UNDER SECTION 4410 OF THE EDUCATION LAW IS NOT THOUGHT TO BE APPROPRIATE

Transition planning for children for whom a referral to preschool special education programs and services is not thought to be appropriate should begin at the IFSP meeting within six months prior to the child's third birthday, or earlier, if local procedures require that transition planning for these children begin at an earlier time. The transition plan must include steps to ensure the transition is completed by the time the child exits the EIP before his/her third birthday (when the child is no longer age eligible for the EIP). The last date for services under the IFSP must be the day before the child's third birthday.

The service coordinator is responsible for assisting the parent in identifying, locating, and accessing other early childhood and supportive services that may be needed by the child and family. The service coordinator may refer the family to the Early Childhood Direction Center (ECDC) or to the Child Care Resource and Referral Program (CCRR), which may assist the family in accessing child care services. Lists of the ECDCs and CCRRs are included in Appendix B and Appendix C.

TRANSITION PLANNING FOR CHILDREN POTENTIALLY ELIGIBLE FOR PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION SERVICES UNDER SECTION 4410 OF THE EDUCATION LAW

There are specific requirements in State and federal law for actions that Early Intervention Officials (EIOs) and school district officials must take for toddlers in the EIP and approaching their third birthday, who may be potentially eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. Many children in the EIP, particularly those with diagnosed conditions with a high probability of developmental delay or a substantial developmental delay may meet the eligibility criteria for preschool special education programs and services (see "Programmatic Eligibility" above). The definitions of developmental delay for purposes of preschool special education programs and services eligibility and for EIP eligibility are similar (see "Programmatic Eligibility" above); however, the Committee on Preschool Special Education (CPSE) must determine the extent to which the developmental delay will affect the child's ability to learn to decide whether a child is eligible for preschool special education programs and services. Appendix D contains a chart describing the roles and responsibilities of public officials, professionals, and parents in the transition process.

DECIDING WHETHER THE CPSE SHOULD BE NOTIFIED OF THE CHILD'S POTENTIAL TRANSITION AND A TRANSITION CONFERENCE SHOULD BE SCHEDULED

Early Intervention Officials have explicit responsibility in the PHL for notifying school districts, with parental consent, of children's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law and for arranging transition conferences for these children and their families. Children who make significant progress in EI may not need special education services, and a referral to the CPSE may not be appropriate.

All parents have the right to refer their children to the school district in which they reside for an evaluation for special education programs and services. In addition, service providers and other referral sources designated under the Education Law can directly refer a child who may be in need of special education programs and services to the child's school district.

As the child approaches the age at which s/he is first eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the EIO, service coordinator, service providers, and parent(s) should review the progress made by the child. The following should be considered in deciding whether it is appropriate to refer a child in the Early Intervention Program for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law:

- the nature and extent of the child's disability, including whether a child has a condition that affects the child's ability to learn;
- developmental progress made by the child, and whether the child continues to experience a significant developmental delay (or delays in multiple areas) that impact the child's ability to learn;
- functional abilities and needs of the child;
- the family's perspective on the child's developmental and functional status and ability of the child to learn;
- results of any recent evaluations and ongoing assessments completed by service providers; and,
- recommendations made by the child's service providers, health care providers, specialists involved in the child's care, etc., about the child's potential need for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law.

Notice Requirements and Timeframes for the Transition Conference

Under Section 2548 of the PHL and Section 69-4.20(b) of EIP regulations, the EIO is required, with parental consent, to notify the school district in which a child resides of the child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law at least 120 days before the child is first eligible for these services. In addition, the EIO must, with parental consent, arrange for a transition conference among the EIO, service coordinator, parent, and the chair (or her/his designee) of the CPSE at least 90 days before the child is first eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, or the child's third birthday, whichever is first. If the child is already receiving, or may need additional services from another state agency (for example, if a child is in an Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (OMRDD) waiver program or may be eligible for services under OMRDD) it may be appropriate to invite representatives of that agency, with the parent's consent.

EIOs must obtain parental consent for the notice to the CPSE of the child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, convening of the transition conference, and referral to the school district in writing and ensure these consents and all actions related to transition are documented in the child's record. It is recommended that the EIO send the referral to the CPSE with a return receipt requested.

If the EIO does not ensure that the school district is notified of the child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, and a referral is not made to the CPSE within the required timeframes to ensure an eligibility determination is rendered by the CPSE before the child's third birthday, the parent(s) has due process rights under the EIP. The child should continue to receive the services included in the most recent IFSP until all due process proceedings are completed. However, there are no due process rights for parents under the EIP if parents do not consent in a timely fashion to a referral to the CPSE by the EIO and do not provide timely consent to the CPSE to evaluate the child. Appendix E provides a chart with required parent consents related to the transition process and sample consent forms for key events in the transition process.

In managing the notice and transition conference requirements at the municipal level, it is permissible for the EIO to group children by the months in which their birth dates occur, as long as notices are sent and transition conferences are convened within the required timeframes. The chart in Appendix F describes eligibility and transition dates.

Under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the chair of the CPSE, or his or her designee, must participate in transition conferences arranged by the EIO for children potentially eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. The notice to the school district should request the CPSE chair or designee to participate in the conference, and should include information about the date, time, and location of the conference. The CPSE chair or designee should also be informed that s/he may participate in the conference by telephone if s/he is unable to participate in person.

Purposes and Content of the Transition Conference

The purposes of the transition conference are to decide whether the child should be referred to preschool special education programs and services under Section 4410 of the Education Law; review program options available to the child and family; and, develop a transition plan. There may be some circumstances under which a child is referred to the CPSE prior to the convening of a transition conference. The parent must be provided with the opportunity to participate in a transition conference even if the child has already been referred for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law.

As part of this discussion, parents should be informed about the following:

- The EIO must ensure that children who are potentially eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law are referred, with parental consent, to the CPSE, of the school district in which they reside.
- The parent may also refer the child directly to the CPSE, as can service providers and other referral sources (such as health care providers) under the Education Law.
- The child must be determined eligible for services pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law before her/his third birthday, in order to ensure continuity of services beyond that date.

- The CPSE will contact the parent to provide information about the CPSE evaluation process following the receipt of a referral from the EIO, the parent, service provider, or any other referral source under the Education Law.
- The parent must provide consent to the CPSE to evaluate the child for the CPSE to determine the child's eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. This consent to evaluate the child must be provided to the CPSE within sufficient time to ensure the child is evaluated and an eligibility determination is made before the child's third birthday, to ensure continuity of EIP services for the child. It is very important that the EIO explain to the parent that the CPSE must receive the consent in a timely manner in order to ensure that an eligibility determination is made by the CPSE before the child's third birthday.
- The CPSE must act within 30 school days of its receipt of the parent's consent to evaluate the child and make a recommendation to the board of education. School days are defined in Part 200.1(n)(1) of Education Regulations as "any day, including a partial day, that students are in attendance in school, including students with disabilities and without disabilities, except that, during the months of July and August, school day means every day except Saturday, Sunday, and legal holidays."
- If the parent does not complete and return the consent for the child's evaluation by the CPSE, the CPSE must follow up with the parent to ensure the parent received the request to evaluate the child and understands this request.
- The child's most recent EIP evaluation report, and other EIP evaluation and assessment records can be provided to the CPSE with parental consent and are a valuable resource for CPSE members in deciding the type and extent of evaluation needed to establish a child's eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. Parents should be encouraged to work with their service coordinator to identify and select appropriate reports and records that may be helpful in the CPSE's evaluation and eligibility determination process, and provide consent to transmit these records to the CPSE. It is not necessary or required that children be re-evaluated by the EIP before transitioning to preschool special education. This provision is meant to reduce unnecessary or duplicative evaluations of children.
- If the child is determined eligible for services pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law before her/his third birthday, the parent may transition the child to preschool special education programs and services or may choose to have the child remain in the EIP until s/he ages out.
- As with EIP services, the child's participation in preschool special education programs and services is voluntary on the part of parents.
- If no referral is made and the child is not evaluated and, therefore, no eligibility determination is made for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law before the child's third birthday, the child and family's participation in the EIP will end at the child's third birthday. Similarly, if the parent does not sign and return the consent to the child's evaluation to the CPSE in a timely manner, and therefore, the CPSE does not render an eligibility determination before the child's third birthday, the child's and family's participation in the EIP ends at the child's third birthday. A transition plan will be developed, which may include referral to other services (e.g., Head Start, other early childhood programs). The last day of services in the IFSP will be the day before the child's third birthday.

- If the CPSE finds that the child is not eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the child's eligibility for the EIP will end at the child's third birthday, and a transition plan to other appropriate early childhood and supportive services will be developed. The last date for services in the IFSP will be the day before the child's third birthday.
- If the parent has signed and returned the consent to the child's evaluation to the CPSE in a timely manner, but the CPSE does not render an eligibility determination before the child's third birthday, the child's eligibility for the EIP will end at his/her third birthday. The last date for services in the IFSP will be the day before the child's third birthday. The parent has due process rights under Section 4410 of the Education Law to access preschool special education services while a determination from the CPSE is pending.

Parents have a key role in the transition of their children from the EIP to preschool special education. It is important that parents take an active role in transitioning their children from the Early Intervention Program to preschool special education programs and services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. The transition conference is an important opportunity for parents to learn about all available options and participate in the transition process. However, if parents choose not to participate in the transition conference, the EIO should notify the parent in writing of all of the above information that would otherwise be discussed at the transition conference. A sample notice is included in Appendix G.

Procedures to Refer the Child to the Committee on Preschool Special Education

A referral to CPSE is a written statement asking the school district to evaluate the child to determine if he or she needs special education services. Various people can make a referral to the CPSE including the parent, a doctor, a judicial officer, a designated person in a public agency or someone from an Early Childhood Direction Center, an approved preschool program or the EIP. Once the referral has been made, parental consent is required for the child to be evaluated.

If a determination is made at the transition conference to refer the child to the CPSE, and the parent consents to the referral, the EIO must refer the child in writing to the chairperson of the CPSE in the school district in which the child resides. If the parent does not participate in the transition conference, the EIO is still responsible for referring the child to the CPSE, with parental consent, if the EIO believes the child is potentially eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. The referral must specify the extent to which the child has received EIP services prior to the referral.

A CPSE chairperson who receives a referral must immediately notify the parent by telephone or in writing that a referral has been received and request consent for evaluation of the child. The parent's consent to the evaluation by the CPSE must be in writing and must be returned by the parent to the CPSE. In order to avoid unnecessary disruption of programs and services, it is important for parents to respond as quickly as possible with written consent to evaluate their children, to ensure an eligibility determination can be made by the CPSE before the children's third birthday.

Once written parental consent to evaluate a child has been received, the CPSE must assure that the process to determine a child's eligibility and need for special education programs and services is initiated and completed in time for children to begin receiving services on the third birthday or the first date of eligibility, whichever comes first.

If the parent does not provide consent for an individual preschool evaluation, the CPSE is required to follow-up with the parent to ensure that the parent has received and understands the request for consent. The parent should be advised by the CPSE and service coordinator that if parental consent is not given within sufficient time for an evaluation and eligibility determination by the CPSE before the child's third birthday, the child and family's participation in the EIP will end on the child's third birthday and a transition plan will be developed, which may include referral to other services (e.g., Head Start, other early childhood services).

CPSE Evaluation Process

After a child is referred for an evaluation for special education, the parent will be asked to give written consent to have the child evaluated by an approved evaluator selected by the parent. The parent will also receive a copy of the Procedural Safeguard Notice, which provides a full explanation of their rights under IDEA, from the CPSE chair or his or her designee. Within 30 school days of receiving the parent's consent for the child's evaluation, the CPSE must be convened at a mutually convenient time and place, to review the evaluation results and to develop a recommendation regarding the preschool child's eligibility for special education programs and services. Eligibility is determined consistent with Section 200.1(mm) of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education. For more information on eligibility determinations and parental rights, go to the "Guide for Determining Eligibility and Preschool Special Education Programs and/or Services for Preschool Students with Disabilities" (available on the SED Web site, www.vesid.nysed.gov).

It is important that the child's parent understand that s/he is a member of the school district CPSE for his or her child. Parents have a significant role in the evaluation of the child, in the CPSE's discussion regarding eligibility for preschool special education, and in planning and developing the child's Individualized Education Program (IEP). Parents may share information regarding the child's developmental, health, and family history as well as the child's strengths, needs, likes, dislikes, and typical behavior related to self-care, language and communication, motor skills, and social interaction with peers and adults.

It is important to note that part or all of the evaluations performed under the EIP can be provided to the CPSE with parent consent and can be used by the CPSE in making a determination as to whether a child is eligible for preschool special education programs and services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. The CPSE may determine that the evaluation is sufficient to make an eligibility determination or may require additional evaluations.

If the CPSE determines that a child is not eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the child's eligibility for the EIP will end the day before the child's third birthday and a transition plan to other appropriate early childhood and supportive services will be developed. If parents disagree, or if the CPSE does not make a recommendation in a timely way, they should discuss their concerns with the CPSE. In addition parents or school districts may contact their Office of Vocational and Educational Services for Individuals with Disabilities (VESID) Special Education Quality Assurance Regional Offices for clarification and technical assistance (see Appendix H for contact information). If it is not possible to resolve disagreements informally, mediation may be used to work out differences in a timely way. Parents also have the right to request an impartial hearing in writing to the BOE. The decision made by the impartial hearing officer (IHO) is final, unless the parents or the school district ask for a review of the decision by a State Review Officer.

Until all proceedings have been completed, pendency for the child is an approved preschool special education program and/or services agreed to by the CPSE and the parents, appropriate to meet the needs of the child (Section 200.16(g)(3)(iv) of the Regulations of the Commissioner). In the event that the CPSE and the parents cannot agree, the IHO will determine the child's pendency placement. A child who has received Early Intervention Services and is now of preschool age may, during hearings and appeals, receive special education in the same program as the early intervention program only if that program is also an approved preschool program.

If parents believe that their school districts have violated procedures under State or federal special education laws and regulations, they may submit a written complaint to the New York State Education Department, Coordinator, Statewide Education Quality Assurance (see Appendix H). Complaints are investigated and determinations are made within sixty calendar days of receipt, unless exceptional circumstances exist with respect to the specific complaint.

If a child is found eligible for preschool special education programs and services, the parent must be informed that the child may transition to preschool special education programs and services; or, remain in the EIP on and past their third birthday until the child ages out. When the child transitions to preschool special education programs and services in his or her IEP, the CPSE is responsible for arranging for the provider(s) to deliver the preschool special education programs and services for the child.

IEPs AND IFSPs FOR CHILDREN FOUND ELIGIBLE FOR PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND SERVICES REMAINING IN THE EIP BEYOND THEIR THIRD BIRTHDAY

If the CPSE determines that the preschool child has a disability, the committee must recommend appropriate special education services and/or programs and develop an individualized education program (IEP) for the child in accordance with State and federal laws and regulations. An IEP must be developed for all children determined to be eligible for preschool special education programs and services, regardless of whether the parent elects to have the child transition to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, or remain in the EIP on and after the child's third birthday. The CPSE must indicate on the IEP the date for initiation of special education programs and services, based on the agreement reached by the CPSE and the date the child is first eligible for preschool special education.

In developing the IEP, the CPSE may consider a number of special education programs or services to meet the child's individual needs. The recommendation for special education services must be implemented with consideration given to the least restrictive environment. The four educational environments are listed below, in order from least to most restrictive:

- Related services such as speech therapy, physical therapy, and occupational therapy.
- Special Education Itinerant Teacher (SEIT) - A special education teacher works with a child in a home or community setting recommended by the CPSE.
- Special Class in an Integrated Setting (SC/IS) - A class with preschool students with disabilities and their typically developing peers.
- Special Class (SC) - A class with only preschool students with disabilities.

Prior to recommending special education services in a setting that includes only preschool children with disabilities, the committee shall first consider providing special education services in a setting where age-appropriate peers without disabilities are typically found. Provision of special education services in a setting with no regular contact with age-appropriate peers without disabilities must be documented on the child's IEP and shall only be considered when the nature or severity of the child's disability is such that education in a less restrictive environment, with the use of supplementary aids and services, cannot be satisfactorily achieved.

In the CPSE process, parents have the right to express a preference for services that must be considered by the CPSE. However, the CPSE, based on the consensus of the members, must recommend appropriate programs and services for each eligible child. If the CPSE recommends different programs and services than the parents requested, the CPSE recommendation must indicate the parent's preference, and the reason why the CPSE made a different recommendation. Parents must also be given information about their due process rights to receive information about the actions that the CPSE will take, as well as ways that parents can challenge the CPSE recommendation.

At the time the IEP is developed, the CPSE (which includes a professional designated by the EIO charged with responsibility for the child transitioning from the EIP) must explain the following to the child's parent:

- The differences between the IEP and IFSP.
- The parent can choose to have their child complete the transition to preschool special education programs and services under the IEP; or, to continue to receive the services in the child's and family's IFSP, until the child is no longer age-eligible for the EIP.
- The CPSE must indicate on the IEP the date for initiation of special education programs and services based on the agreement reached by the CPSE, the date the child is first eligible for preschool special education, and whether the parent wishes to have the child transition to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, or continue to receive services in the child's and family's IFSP until the child is no longer age-eligible for the EIP.
- The IFSP will be modified to include the date EIP services will end and the child will transition to preschool special education programs and services.
- The parent may choose, at any time, to transition the child to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law at an earlier date than the start date in the IEP.

Upon receipt of the recommendation of the CPSE, the board of education must arrange for the child to receive the recommended special education programs and services beginning with the July, September, or January starting date for the approved program. However, if the recommendation of the CPSE is made less than 30 school days prior to, or after the July, September, or January starting date, the services must be provided no later than 30 school days from the recommendation. To avoid a gap in services for those children who will continue in the EIP on and past their third birthday, the BOE must arrange for the child to receive programs and services on the date recommended by the CPSE.

CPSE PROGRESS REPORTS AND THE ANNUAL REVIEW

When parents and the CPSE develop a child's IEP, they must decide how and when the parent(s) will be informed of the child's progress. Once a child transitions to preschool special education programs and services, progress reports must be provided at least as often as they are for non-disabled children in a regular education program in their school district. Progress can be reported by regular telephone calls from the child's teacher or service provider, notes and comments in a shared notebook or formal progress reports, which tell how the child is progressing toward IEP goals, and whether the child is expected to meet the goals on the IEP by the date planned.

A child's IEP must be reviewed at least once a year. If needed, parents, the school district CPSE, or the preschool program provider may also ask for a meeting at any time during the school year to discuss a child's progress or review a child's program.

V. TRANSITION FOR CHILDREN IN FOSTER CARE

All of the transition procedures described above apply to children in foster care who are in the Early Intervention Program (EIP). However, for children in foster care, the local social services commissioner responsible for the child must be involved in the transition planning process (i.e., the local social services commissioner who has the care and custody or custody and guardianship of the child). The local social services commissioner should be invited to participate in the review of IFSP to determine whether the child needs a referral for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, and, if applicable, should be invited to participate the child's transition conference.

It is also important to note that children in foster care may, under certain circumstances, require the appointment of a surrogate parent by the EIO or Committee on Preschool Special Education (CPSE). If the EIO has appointed a surrogate parent for a child in foster care, it is possible that the CPSE will continue to have this surrogate parent represent the child, or there may be a need for the CPSE to appoint a different surrogate parent for purposes of services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. If a surrogate parent is appointed by either the EIO or the CPSE, the surrogate parent is accorded all the rights and responsibilities of the child's parent for purposes of the Early Intervention Program and preschool special education programs and services.

Appendix I includes information about the roles and responsibilities of Early Intervention Officials, service coordinators, local Department of Social Services caseworkers, and the CPSE in the transition process for children in the EIP who are also in the foster care system. The Department of Health and Office of Children and Family Services jointly developed a protocol for children in foster care and the EIP, which is available on the Department's Web site (<http://www.health.state.ny.us>).

VI. OTHER PROGRAMS AND RESOURCES FOR CHILDREN AND THEIR FAMILIES

In addition to the Early Intervention Program (EIP) and preschool special education programs and services, there are a number of programs administered by other State agencies that are helpful to children with special needs and their families. It is important for all professionals working with young children and their families to be informed about and help families access services available through other State agencies. Although this is particularly important when children are transitioning from the EIP to other services, it is also important for families and service coordinators to be aware of and access these other service delivery systems as needs emerge while children are receiving services from the EIP. These include:

OTHER COMMUNITY RESOURCES

There are also a variety of community resources that are helpful to all young children and their families. It is important for all professionals working with young children and their families to be informed about and help families access services available through other community resources. Although this is particularly important when children are transitioning from the EIP to other services, it is also important for families and service coordinators to be aware of and access these other service delivery systems as needs emerge while children are receiving services from the Early Intervention Program. Appendix K includes a listing of other important community resources for young children and their families.

VII. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON TRANSITION

AGE ELIGIBILITY

1. Question: Can a child be age-eligible for the Early Intervention Program (EIP) and special education services under Section 4410 of the Education Law at the same time?

Answer: Yes. Under IDEA and New York State Public Health and Education Law, there is overlapping age-eligibility for the EIP and preschool special education programs and services for children over the age of two years. This is to ensure that children do not experience a gap in services when transitioning from the EIP to preschool special education programs and services; and, to ensure that children have access to a free appropriate public education by their third birthday. However, under PHL, a child who is receiving services under Section 4410 of Education Law cannot be an eligible child under the EIP.

Under Public Health Law (PHL), children are age-eligible for the EIP from birth through two years of age, unless the child has been determined eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law before the child's third birthday. If a child is determined eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law before his or her third birthday, the parent may choose to have the child continue to receive EIP services until he/she ages out, or transition the child to preschool special education programs and services.

The specific date when a child is first eligible for preschool special education programs and services depends upon the month during which a child is born.

2. Question: If a child currently receiving EI services is in the process of receiving an evaluation under Section 4410 and turns three, may the child continue to receive EI services on and after his/her third birthday?

Answer: No. The amended Public Health Law is explicit. A child who is not determined eligible for Section 4410 programs and/or services before his/her third birthday may not continue to receive EI services after his/her third birthday. Please refer to page 16 for information on parents' due process rights under the Education Law.

3. Question: If the CPSE does not determine that a child is eligible before his or her third birthday, and then the CPSE determines the child eligible for special education programs and services after the child has already turned three years of age, can the child return to the EIP and resume the services included in his or her previous IFSP? Alternatively, if a child exits the EIP while eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law is pending, and the child is subsequently found eligible for these services, can the child re-enter the EIP and continue in the EIP until s/he is no longer age-eligible?

Answer: No. If the child turns three years of age, and the CPSE has not rendered a determination as to whether the child is eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the child's eligibility for the EIP ends at his or her third birthday. In this case, it is recommended that the concern be discussed with the CPSE or directed to the appropriate Special Education Quality Assurance Office (see Appendix H). The child may not re-enter the EIP at or after his or her third birthday. Similarly, if a child exits the EIP while eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law is pending, and the child is subsequently found eligible for these services after the child's third birthday, the child cannot re-enter the EIP.

As always, to address areas of disagreement, or when the CPSE has not acted within the required timeframes, under Education Law, parents may pursue their due process rights to mediation, an impartial hearing, or a sixty-day State complaint (see page 16).

4. Question: What should the Early Intervention Official (EIO) do if a child is referred to the EIP when s/he is age-eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: If a child is referred to the EIP when s/he is age eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, the EIO should recommend to the parent that the child be referred directly to the CPSE of the school district in which the family resides. However, if a parent chooses to continue with the referral to the EIP, an initial service coordinator must be assigned and the service coordinator must assist the parent in the receipt of a multidisciplinary evaluation for the child consistent with the EIP requirements. The parent should be informed that the transition process must also be initiated, including notice to the school district, arranging for a transition conference and evaluation of the child by the CPSE to determine the child's eligibility for services under Section 4410 of Education Law. The parent should be informed that if the child is not referred, evaluated, and found eligible for preschool special education programs and services before the child's third birthday, the child's eligibility for the EIP will end when the child turns three years old.

NOTIFICATION AND REFERRAL

5. Question: Can the notification to the CPSE of a child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law also serve as the referral to the CPSE?

Answer: There is nothing in Public Health or Education Law to prohibit the notification of a child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law from also serving as the referral, as long as the notice is clearly identified as a referral and the notice includes all the information required by the CPSE to be considered a referral.

6. Question: Must a school district/CPSE accept all referrals of age-eligible children?

Answer: Yes. Under the Education Law, the CPSE is required to accept and act upon referrals of age-eligible children. This includes requesting consent to evaluate the child, follow-up with parents who do not provide consent to ensure they understand the request, and completing an eligibility determination and, if appropriate, an IEP within required timeframes.

7. Question: Is it each county's responsibility to establish a policy regarding the specific age for children to be referred to the CPSE?

Answer: No. Each county and New York City must adhere to the requirements in Public Health and Education Law regarding age-eligibility requirements and the timeframes for notice to the school district, convening of a transition conference, and eligibility determinations. However, counties may develop procedures consistent with State laws and regulations and Department of Health and State Education Department policies.

8. Question: Must the Early Intervention Official (EIO) notify school districts and arrange transition conferences EXACTLY 120 days and 90 days, respectively, prior to the child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: No. EIP regulations require the notice be AT LEAST 120 days prior to the child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law; and, the transition conference to be convened AT LEAST 90 days prior to a child's potential eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law or the child's third birthday, whichever is first. To manage notice and transition conferences at the municipal level, it is permissible for the EIO to notify school districts and arrange for transition conferences during the month or quarter in which a child's birth date falls, as long as the notice is sent and the transition conference is convened within the timeframes required in regulations and within sufficient time for the CPSE to render an eligibility determination before the child's third birthday.

9. Question: At what age must the school district CPSE accept a referral for preschool special education?

Answer: In order for a child to receive preschool special education by their third birthday or on the first day of their eligibility for preschool special education (whichever comes first), the referral must be accepted in time to allow the CPSE to provide a recommendation to the board of education within thirty school days of receipt of written consent by the parent for the individual evaluation of the child.

10. Question: What information must be included in the referral to the CPSE?

Answer: The referral to the CPSE must be made in writing and must include the following information: the name of and contact information for the child and the child's parent or person in parental relation; the reasons for the referral, including, with parent consent, any records upon which the referral is based that may be in the possession of the person submitting the referral; a written description of the child's participation in EIP services; and, the extent of parental contact or involvement prior to the referral.

TRANSITION CONFERENCE

11. Question: Should a transition conference be arranged for all children exiting the EIP?

Answer: A transition conference should only be arranged, with parental consent, for children potentially eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. Please refer to pages 10 and 11 for criteria to be considered in identifying these children.

12. Question: Who must participate in the transition conference?

Answer: The EIO is responsible for convening the transition conference with the parent, service coordinator, and chair of the CPSE or his or her designee.

13. Question: Is the CPSE chairperson or a designee required to participate in the transition conference to review the child's program options?

Answer: Yes. Pursuant to Section 4410(3)(f) of the Education Law, the Chairperson of the CPSE of the local school district in which the child resides or his or her designee must participate in the conference.

14. Question: Who else should participate in the transition conference?

Answer: With the parent's consent, representatives of other service delivery systems, with whom the child and family are currently involved or from whom the child may need services (such as OMRDD or OCFS) should be invited to participate in the transition conference.

15. Question: Can required participants in the transition conference participate by telephone conference call?

Answer: Yes. The transition conference must be convened in a location that is mutually convenient to the participants. It is permissible for participants to participate in the conference by telephone.

16. Question: What is the role of the CPSE chairperson or the designee at the transition conference?

Answer: The CPSE Chairperson or the Chairperson's designee must participate in the conference with the parent(s) and the EI Service Coordinator to support the child's potential transition to preschool special education and to ensure that the parent is fully informed of the special education or other early childhood program options, including but not limited to nursery school, day care or Head Start programs. The CPSE Chairperson can provide information and respond to the parent(s) questions or concerns regarding the CPSE process including children's eligibility for services, timelines from referral to provision of preschool special education programs and services, and/or the provision of transportation services for the child.

17. Question: Can the Early Intervention Official (EIO) be the CPSE chairperson's designee?

Answer: No. The EIO cannot act as the designee of the CPSE chairperson. Since the EIO represents the county at the transition conference and at meetings of the CPSE, the EIO cannot be designated to serve in this role as a representative of the school district. Qualifications for the designee of the CPSE Chairperson at the transition conference are not established by state law or regulation. It is appropriate for a member of the CPSE (Section 200.3(a)(2) Regulations of the Commissioner) who is knowledgeable about the transition process and is experienced in reviewing the needs of children transitioning from early intervention to represent the child's school district as the appointed designee of the CPSE Chairperson.

TRANSITION PLAN

18. Question: Is a transition plan required for all children exiting the EIP, or only those children who will transition to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: Yes. A transition plan must be developed for all children exiting the EIP, regardless of whether the child is transitioning to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law or to other early childhood and supportive services. However, the CPSE chairperson or his or her designee only participates in transition planning for children potentially eligible for preschool special education programs and services.

19. Question: When should the transition planning process begin?

Answer: Because children are in the EIP for a short time, it is appropriate to begin transition planning as early as possible. For children potentially eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, transition planning must be initiated in accordance with requirements in PHL in this document. For children for whom a referral to the CPSE is not appropriate, a transition plan should be developed at the IFSP meeting within six months prior to the child's third birthday.

20. Question: If a parent does not wish to have and does not consent to a transition conference, but does consent to notification and referral to the school district and to an evaluation by the CPSE, when is the transition plan developed and who is responsible for development of the plan?

Answer: If the parent does not wish to have and does not consent to a transition conference, transition planning should begin at the IFSP meeting closest to the date when the EIO is required to notify the school district of the child's potential transition. Transition planning should continue in any subsequent meetings (e.g., the first meeting of the CPSE) that include discussions about the child's transition to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. The transition plan, when completed, is incorporated into the IFSP with parental consent.

21. Question: What are the required components of the transition plan?

Answer: The transition plan must include procedures to prepare the child and family for changes in service delivery, including steps to help the child adjust to and function in a new setting or with a new service provider; and, procedures to prepare program staff or individual qualified personnel who will be providing services to the child to facilitate the smooth transition. With parent consent, the transition plan should be incorporated into the IFSP.

CPSE EVALUATION PROCESS

22. Question: If a child is currently receiving EI services and has recently been evaluated in the EI system, what is the process and time frame for the decision to be made as to which specific evaluation components the approved preschool evaluator must complete?

Answer: A CPSE Chairperson who receives a referral must immediately notify the child's parent(s) that a referral has been received and must request consent for evaluation of the preschool student. In addition, with the consent of the parents, approved evaluators and committees must be provided with the most recent evaluation report for a child in transition from early intervention programs. Nothing prohibits an approved evaluator or the CPSE from reviewing other assessments or evaluations to determine if those assessments fulfill the requirements of State law and regulations for determining eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. As part of an initial evaluation, if appropriate, and as part of any reevaluation, a group that includes the CPSE and other qualified professionals, must review existing evaluation data on the student including evaluations and information provided by the student's parents, current classroom-based assessments and observations, and observations by teachers and related service providers. The group may conduct its review without a meeting. On the basis of that review and input from the student's parents, the CPSE and other qualified professionals, must identify what additional assessment data are needed. Discussion about existing EI evaluations should be part of the transition conference. The CPSE must complete its evaluation of the child and provide a recommendation to the board of education within 30 school days of receipt of the parental consent for evaluation.

Parents have the right to choose which records and reports, if any, are transmitted to the CPSE. Parents have the right to sign either a general release or selective release, which specifies by name or category those individuals to whom information may be disclosed.

23. Question: Who is responsible for transmitting appropriate evaluations, assessments, IFSPs, and other pertinent records from the Early Intervention Program to the CPSE?

Answer: The service coordinator is responsible for reviewing information concerning the transition procedure with the parent and obtaining parental consent for the transfer of appropriate records, including evaluations, assessments, IFSPs, and other pertinent records. Parents should be encouraged to share appropriate records with the CPSE, since the purpose of this requirement is to reduce the need for unnecessary or duplicative evaluations of the child. However, a parent is not required to consent to the release of some or all of these reports.

24. Question: Is the Early Intervention Official (EIO) required to attend the initial and subsequent CPSE meetings for a child transitioning from the EIP to preschool special education programs and services?

Answer: There is no requirement in Public Health Law (PHL) or regulation that an EIO attend CPSE meetings for children transitioning from the EIP to preschool special education programs and services. The EIO is responsible for convening the transition conference, with parental consent. If the transition conference is combined with the first meeting of the CPSE, the EIO must attend this combined meeting. The EIO does have a responsibility to ensure a smooth transition for children receiving EIP services to preschool or other appropriate services.

Section 4410(a)(2) of the Education Law requires that “the appropriately licensed or certified professional designated by the agency that has been charged with the responsibility for the preschool child pursuant to applicable federal laws relating to early intervention services shall attend all meetings of the committee conducted prior to the child’s initial receipt of services pursuant to this section.” This professional may be the municipal EIO, service coordinator, or a professional from the agency that has knowledge of the child’s status, services received, and progress.

TRANSITION FROM THE EIP TO PRESCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS AND SERVICES

25. Question: What happens when a child currently receiving EIP services is eligible for preschool special education programs and services, but continues in the EIP and makes significant progress so that the Early Intervention Official (EIO) believes the child may not require preschool programs and services?

Answer: The CPSE, and not the EIO, is responsible for determining whether a re-evaluation is necessary to determine the child’s eligibility for preschool special education programs and services. If the EIO has reason to believe that the eligible child has made significant progress, the EIO should work with the service coordinator in securing parental consent to forward additional records such as recent assessments and progress notes to the CPSE. The EIO should ensure that the service coordinator transmits additional records to the CPSE.

26. Question: If a child receives services in community or home-based settings under the EIP, can s/he continue to receive services in these settings when s/he transitions to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: Yes. The continuum of services available under Section 4410 of the Education Law includes services in community and home-based settings and on-site at approved provider locations, if recommended by the CPSE.

27. Question: Can a child continue to receive services from their EIP provider when s/he transitions to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: Only if the Early Intervention provider(s) is also approved to provide services under Section 4410 of the Education Law.

28. Question: Are service coordination services provided to families under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: No. There is no requirement under the Education Law to provide service coordination services to children and families eligible for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. However, when a child's IEP includes two or more related services only, the board of education must designate one of the service providers to coordinate the provision of services. If the IEP includes special education itinerant services (SEIT) and one or more related services, the SEIT provider is responsible for the coordination of services.

29. Question: How can families find out about the programs and services available under Section 4410 of the Education Law?

Answer: There are a number of ways families can access information about services available under Section 4410 of the Education Law. Service coordinators are responsible for informing families about the transition process, including programs and service options available under Section 4410 of the Education Law and for linking families to services in the community needed by the child that are not available under the EIP or under Section 4410 of the Education Law. In addition, an important purpose of the transition conference is to review program and service options available to the child and family when the child transitions to preschool special education. The State Education Department's publication, Special Education in New York State for Children Ages 3-21: A Parent's Guide, is also an important source of information for families. Parents may also be referred to the Early Childhood Direction Center (ECDC) serving the county in which the family resides (see Appendix B).

30. Question: Are parents required to provide information about private insurance to the CPSE?

Answer: No. There is no requirement for use of private insurance for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. There is a requirement that insurance information be provided to the Early Intervention Official for purposes of reimbursement of EIP services.

31. Question: If the CPSE determines that a child currently in the EIP is eligible for 4410 programs and services, what date does the CPSE recommend to the board of education for the initiation of services?

Answer: At the time that the CPSE meets to find the child eligible for preschool special education, the CPSE and parent(s) should discuss and agree upon the timeframe for transition. The specific date of initiating the child's preschool special education program and services will depend upon whether the parent elects to have the child continue in the Early Intervention Program or to transition the child to services under Section 4410 of the Education Law. The CPSE must indicate on the IEP the date for initiation of special education, based on the agreement reached by the CPSE and the child's first date of eligibility for preschool special education. The IFSP should be modified to include the last date of EIP services, which should be based on the date when preschool special education services will begin.

32. Question: If a parent chooses to have the child remain in the EIP until s/he is no longer age-eligible for the EIP, does the EIP have to provide additional services included in the IEP (if any) that are not considered EIP services and not included in the child's IFSP?

Answer: No. The EIP is only responsible for providing the EIP services included in the child's IFSP. If the parent wishes the child to receive additional services included in the child's IEP, the parent must transition the child to preschool special education programs and services included in the child's IEP.

33. Question: A child who was never in the EIP is referred to and evaluated by the CPSE. The CPSE finds the child eligible for preschool special education programs and services and develops an IEP. Services in the IEP are not delivered in a timely manner. Under these circumstances, can the child be referred to the EIP, if s/he is still age eligible for the EIP?

Answer: No. If a child is determined eligible for preschool special education programs and services, and the programs and services are not provided in a timely manner, the parent may follow procedures outlined on pages 15 and 16 related to resolving concerns with the CPSE process.

34. Question: If the CPSE, with parent consent, reviews the child's EIP evaluation(s) and assessment(s) and determines additional evaluations and/or assessment data (e.g., physical examination, psychological evaluation) is required by the CPSE to determine eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law, are such evaluations paid for under the EIP under DOH, or preschool special education under NYSED?

Answer: Any additional evaluations and/or assessment data required by the CPSE to determine eligibility for services under Section 4410 of the Education Law are the fiscal responsibility of the county/NYC Department of Education.

35. Question: Must all required members of the CPSE be present to determine whether a child who is in the EIP and who is turning 3 is eligible for preschool special education programs and services?

Answer: Yes. In order for the eligibility determination to be valid, all required members of the CPSE must participate in the CPSE meeting where eligibility is determined and the IEP is developed. Please refer to pages 15 - 17 of this document for detailed requirements for the CPSE evaluation, eligibility, and IEP process.

36. Question: Must all the components of the IEP required under Part 200 of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education be developed at the time a child is determined eligible for preschool special education programs and services?

Answer: Yes. An IEP, which includes all required components, must be completed at the time the child is found eligible for preschool special education programs and services. In addition, the CPSE is responsible for explaining to the parent(s) the differences between the IEP and the IFSP (see pages 16 through 18 of this document for procedures that should be followed).

37. Question: Should a child over age 3, who is initially found eligible for preschool special education programs and services, and whose parent(s) have decided the child should remain in the EIP, be discharged from the EIP, if the CPSE re-evaluates the child and finds the child not eligible?

Answer: Yes. Only those children who are eligible for preschool special education programs and services can remain in the EIP beyond their third birthday. If the child's eligibility status for preschool special education programs and services changes while the child is in the EIP, the child is no longer eligible to remain in the EIP and must transition out of the program.

APPENDIX G - SAMPLE TRANSITION NOTICE

<Name of County> - Early Intervention Program

TRANSITION NOTICE

Dear <Name of Parent or Legal Guardian>:

Your child will turn three years old soon, and may be eligible for preschool special education. If your child is found eligible for preschool special education, you have two choices:

- ❑ Your child can start preschool special education on January 2nd <July 1st>; <Sept. 1st> OR.
- ❑ Your child can stay in EIP services until August 31st <January 1st>, and start preschool special education in September <January>.

It is possible that your child will not meet the criteria for preschool special education. In this case, your child's EIP services will end the day before your child turns three years old. Your service coordinator will help you plan the next steps for your family.

Only the Committee on Preschool Special Education (CPSE) of your local school district can decide if your child is eligible for preschool special education.

This notice tells you about the steps you, the Early Intervention Program, and the CPSE must take to find out if your child meets the criteria for preschool special education. These steps include:

- ❑ informing the CPSE your child might be eligible for preschool special education;
- ❑ meeting, if you choose to do so, with your Early Intervention Official or Designee, service coordinator, and CPSE chair or designee (this meeting is optional);
- ❑ referring your child to the CPSE; and
- ❑ having your child evaluated by the CPSE.

If your child is not evaluated by the CPSE and is not found eligible for services by the CPSE before your child turns three years old, your child's EIP services will end the day before your child turns three years old.

Please read this carefully. Your service coordinator can answer any questions you may have.

Remember, the CPSE must decide if your child is eligible before your child turns three years old, to be sure that your child gets the services s/he needs.

TRANSITION NOTICE –Steps To Transition

- The Early Intervention Program (EIP) must tell your school district that your child may be eligible for preschool special education programs and services. You will be asked to give your consent for this step. The EIP can only take this step with your consent.
- The Early Intervention Official or Designee (EIO/D) must give you the chance to meet with the EIO/D, your service coordinator, and the chairperson of the CPSE (or his/her designee). If your child is already receiving, or may need additional services from another state agency, it may be appropriate to have a representative from that agency attend as well. This meeting is called a transition conference.
- You decide if you would like a transition conference. You will be asked to give your consent to the EIP for this conference to take place. If you would like a conference, your consent is needed for the EIO/D to arrange the conference.
- The conference must take place at a time and location good for all participants. The conference can take place by telephone.
- The main goals for the transition conference are to:
 - ✓ talk about your child’s referral to the CPSE and CPSE evaluation process;
 - ✓ answer any questions you may have;
 - ✓ review the options for your child and family; and,
 - ✓ develop a transition plan.
- If you choose not to have a transition conference, the EIO/D still can refer your child to the school district CPSE.
 - ✓ You will be asked for your consent to refer your child. The EIO/D can only take this step with your consent.
 - ✓ Your consent will be needed in enough time for all other steps to be taken, and for the CPSE to make a decision about your child’s eligibility for preschool special education services before your child’s third birthday.
 - ✓ Otherwise, EIP services will end the day before your child’s third birthday.
- You can directly refer your child to the CPSE in your school district. In addition, your child’s service provider, health care provider, or other person concerned about your child can refer your child to the CPSE in your child’s school district. If you directly refer your child, or someone else refers your child, your child must be evaluated by the CPSE, and the CPSE must make a decision about your child’s eligibility for preschool special education programs and services before your child turns three years old. Otherwise, EIP services will end on the day before your child’s third birthday.
- Once your child is referred, the CPSE will contact you to tell you about how to get your child evaluated. The CPSE will ask for your consent to evaluate your child.

- ✓ Sign and return the consent form right away. The CPSE must have enough time after they get your consent to evaluate your child and decide whether your child is eligible for preschool special education before your child turns three. The CPSE will contact you to arrange for your child's evaluation.
 - ✓ If you do not sign and return the consent to evaluate your child, the CPSE will contact you to be sure you received and understood the materials.
 - ✓ Just as you are a member of your IFSP team, you will also be a member of the CPSE for your child.
 - ✓ The CPSE must make a decision, and provide a recommendation to the board of education, within 30 school days of getting your consent to evaluate your child. Since your child's EIP services will end on the day before his or her third birthday unless the CPSE decides your child is eligible for preschool special education before your child turns three, it is very important that you return the consent to let the CPSE evaluate your child with enough time for the CPSE to make a decision.
 - ✓ Your child's EIP records can be used by the CPSE to decide how to evaluate your child. Your service coordinator will work with you to identify evaluation reports and records from the EIP that may be helpful. Your child may not need additional evaluations for the CPSE to make a decision. Your service coordinator will need your consent to provide the CPSE with EIP evaluation reports and records that may be helpful.
 - ✓ If you give consent to provide EIP records to the CPSE, and the CPSE decides an additional evaluation is needed, the CPSE will ask for your consent to evaluate your child. Your consent will be needed for the CPSE to evaluate your child and decide if your child is eligible for preschool special education.
- If your child is eligible for preschool special education, an individual education plan (IEP) will be developed for your child.
 - ✓ The CPSE will explain the differences between your child's IEP and IFSP.
 - ✓ You can choose to begin preschool special education programs and services, or, to stay in the EIP until your child ages out of the EIP.
 - ✓ If you decide to have your child stay in the EIP, you can choose to leave the EIP and start your child in preschool special education programs and services at any time.
 - ✓ A transition plan for your child will be made.
 - If your child is not eligible for preschool special education, EIP services will end the day before your child turns three years old.
 - ✓ A transition plan for your child will be made.
 - ✓ If your child and family need other services, the plan will include these services, and steps to help you get these services.

Due Process Procedures

- If you disagree with the CPSE, or if you sent in your consent to have the CPSE evaluate your child with enough time for the CPSE to make a decision on whether your child is eligible for preschool special education services before your child turns three, and the CPSE does not complete its work on time you have due process rights under the Education Law. You can:

- ✓ Contact your VESID Special Education Quality Assurance Regional Office for clarification or technical assistance.
 - ✓ Ask for a mediation or impartial hearing on the CPSE decision, or if they did not make a decision on time.
 - ✓ Your child has the right to get the services you agree on with the CPSE, while you are waiting for a final decision to be made.
 - ✓ If you and the CPSE cannot agree about the services needed by your child, an impartial hearing officer will decide what services your child must receive during this time.
- If you gave your consent to the EIO to notify the school district and refer your child to the CPSE but the EIO does not notify the school district and refer your child to the CPSE, you have due process rights under Public Health Law, including mediation and impartial hearing. However, these due process rights are only available if YOU gave the EIP consent in time to:
- ✓ inform the school district of your child's potential eligibility for preschool special education;
 - ✓ arrange for a transition conference (unless you tell the EIP you do not want a transition conference); and
 - ✓ refer your child to the CPSE with enough time for the CPSE to make a decision, before your child turns three, on whether your child is eligible for preschool special education services.

Finding a local Head Start or Early Head Start Program

To find a local Head Start or Early Head Start program in your area, use the on-line national Head Start Program Search Tool at:

<http://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/hsb/hsweb/index.jsp>.

Use the Search Tool to browse through the list of Head Start programs in your state. Then contact the listed programs closest to your community, even if they are some distance away. These are the main program offices, which can tell you if there is a Head Start center in your area. Many of the organizations found in the Search Tool operate additional Head Start centers that are not listed, so there may be a program closer to your home than it appears. If you need more help to find a Head Start or Early Head Start program in your area, call the Head Start Information and Publication Center toll-free at: 1-866-763-6481.

Part 200.16

Educational programs and services for preschool students with disabilities, as defined in Section 200.1 (mm) of this Part, shall be provided in accordance with this Section, and those other applicable provisions of this Part that are not inconsistent with this Section. Where other provisions of this Part are made applicable to preschool students with disabilities, committee on special education shall mean a committee on preschool special education; student shall mean a preschool student with a disability; and programs shall mean preschool programs.

- (a) Eligibility. A preschool student with a disability shall be eligible for special education services and programs pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law provided that the student has a disability as defined in Section 200.1 (mm) of this Part.

- (b) Procedures for referral, evaluation, individualized education program development, placement and review. (1) Referral.
- (i) A preschool student suspected of having a disability shall be referred in writing to the chairperson of the district's committee on preschool special education. Such referral may be made by the persons specified in Section 200.4(a)(1)(i) through (v) of this Part or by professional staff members of:
 - (a) an Early Childhood Direction Center (ECDC);
 - (b) preschool programs approved pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law; or
 - (c) programs providing special instruction to children birth to three years of age approved by the lead State agency as designated by the Governor to administer Federal funds for such programs.
 - (ii) If a referral is received by a professional staff member of the school district, it shall be forwarded to the chairperson of the committee on preschool special education immediately upon its receipt by such staff member.
 - (iii) A referral shall specify the extent to which the preschool student has received any services prior to referral.
 - (iv) A committee chairperson who receives a referral shall immediately notify the parent pursuant to paragraphs (g) (1) and (2) of this Section that a referral has been received and shall request consent for evaluation of the preschool student.
 - (v) In the event that consent for an individual evaluation is not provided, the committee shall implement the district's practices and procedures for the purpose of ensuring that parents have received and understand the request for consent.
- (c) Individual evaluation. (1) Upon the consent and selection by the parent of an approved program with a multidisciplinary evaluation component to conduct an individual evaluation, as defined in Section 200.1(aa) of this Part, the board shall arrange for such evaluation by the service provider selected by the parent. In addition, with the consent of the parents, approved evaluators and committees shall be provided with the most recent evaluation report for a child in transition from programs and services provided pursuant to title two-a of article 25 of the Public Health Law. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit an approved evaluator or the committee from reviewing other assessments or evaluations to determine if such assessments or evaluations fulfill the requirements of this Part.
- (2) The individual evaluation shall be conducted in accordance with Section 200.4(b) of this Part. The summary report shall include a detailed statement of the preschool student's individual needs, if any. The summary report shall not include a recommendation as to the general type, frequency, location and duration of special education services and programs that should be provided; shall not address the manner in which the preschool student can be provided with instruction or related services in the least restrictive environment; and shall not make reference to any specific provider of special services or programs. Reports of the assessment and/or evaluation and a summary portion of the evaluation shall be provided to the members of the committee on preschool special education and to the person designated by the municipality in which the preschool student resides so as to allow for a recommendation by the committee to be made to the board within thirty school days of the receipt of consent. An approved evaluator shall provide the parent with a copy of the statement and recommendation provided to the committee. Such statement and recommendation including the summary evaluation shall be provided in English and when necessary, in the native language of the parent or other mode of communication used by the parent unless it is not feasible to do so.

(3) Prior to making any recommendation that would place a child in an approved program owned or operated by the same agency which conducted the initial evaluation of the child, the committee may exercise its discretion to obtain an evaluation of the child from another approved evaluator.

(4) For school years 1994-95 and thereafter, if the approved evaluator finds that the student requires evaluations beyond those previously authorized by the committee during the school year, or requires a reevaluation of any component, the committee must provide written authorization prior to the approved evaluator conducting the evaluation. The chairperson of the committee shall notify, at least five business days prior to the date of the evaluation, the representative of the municipality and other members of the committee of such request. The representative of the municipality or other members of the committee may request a meeting of the committee to determine the need for such an evaluation.

(5) Prior to the committee meeting, the committee shall provide the parent with a copy of the summary report of the findings of the evaluation in accordance with paragraph (2) of this subdivision. Upon request of the parent, the committee shall provide copies of all written documentation to be considered by the committee in the development of the preschool student's individualized education program.

(6) For purposes of eligibility and continuing eligibility determinations, the committee must provide a copy of the evaluation report and the documentation of determination of eligibility to the parent.

(7) If the parent disagrees with the evaluation, the parent may obtain an independent evaluation at public expense in accordance with Section 200.5(g) of this Part and to the extent authorized by Federal law and regulation.

(8) The committee shall forward a request for approval of reimbursement of the cost of evaluations, on a form prescribed by the commissioner, to the appropriate municipality in which the preschool student resides within 30 days of the date of the committee meeting at which the evaluation was reviewed. The committee must also send a copy of such form to the approved evaluator or, in the alternative, may provide a copy of the form available for inspection and photocopying by the approved evaluator.

- (d) Recommendation. Individualized education program (IEP).
- (1) The committee on preschool special education shall provide a recommendation to the board of education within 30 school days of the date of the receipt of consent.
 - (2) If the preschool student has been determined to be ineligible for special education, the recommendation shall indicate the reasons the student was found to be ineligible. A copy of such recommendation shall be provided to the parent consistent with the prior notice requirements in Section 200.5(a) of this Part.
 - (3) If the committee determines that the preschool child has a disability, the committee shall recommend approved appropriate services and/or special programs and the frequency, duration, location and intensity of such services including, but not limited to, the appropriateness of single services or half-day programs based on the individual needs of the preschool child. The committee shall first consider the appropriateness of providing (i) related services only; or (ii) special education itinerant services only; or (iii) related services in combination with special education itinerant services; or (iv) a half-day preschool program as defined in Section 200.1 of this Part; or (v) a full-day preschool program. If the committee determines that the child demonstrates the need for a single related service, such service shall be provided as a related service only or, where appropriate, as a special education itinerant service. The recommendation shall be developed in accordance with Section 200.4(d)(2), (3) and (4) of this Part provided that subparagraphs (iv), (viii), (ix) and (xiii) of paragraph (2) shall not apply. In addition, the recommendation for special education programs and services for a preschool student with a disability shall:
 - (i) identify an appropriate program and/or service selected from the lists of preschool programs and services established pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law;
 - (ii) indicate the recommended program option from those options set forth in this Section;
 - (iii) if the recommendation is for one or more related services selected from the list maintained by the municipality, or itinerant services, indicate the child care location arranged by the parent or other site, at which each service shall be provided;
 - (iv) prior to recommending the provision of special education services in a setting which includes only preschool children with disabilities, the committee shall first consider providing special education services in a setting where age-appropriate peers without

- disabilities are typically found. Provision of special education services in a setting with no regular contact with age-appropriate peers without disabilities shall be documented on the child's IEP and shall only be considered when the nature or severity of the child's disability is such that education in a less restrictive environment with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily;
- (v) define the extent to which the preschool student's parents will receive parent counseling and training as defined in Section 200.1(kk) of this Part, when appropriate; and
 - (vi) only be made for a program which uses psychotropic drugs if such program has a written policy pertaining to such use. The parent of a student for whom such a recommendation is made must be provided with a copy of such written policy at the time such recommendation is made.
- (4) The committee's recommendation shall be developed at a meeting of the committee on preschool special education in accordance with Section 200.4(d)(4) of this Part and Section 4410 of the Education Law. To the extent possible, any meeting of the committee shall be held at a site mutually convenient to the members of the committee and the parent of the preschool student, including but not limited to the worksite of the evaluator, the municipal representative on the committee, or the chairperson of the committee. The committee's recommendation shall be developed following a review of information presented by the preschool student's teacher(s) and/or the parent, the evaluation results provided by the approved program, results of other evaluations, and any other appropriate information provided by an agency charged with responsibility for the student. However, if the committee determines that a child requires a structured learning environment of 12 months duration to prevent substantial regression, the committee shall include in its recommendation a statement of the reasons for such recommendation as part of the IEP document.
- (5) In developing its recommendation for a preschool student with a disability to receive programs and services, the committee must identify transportation options for the student and encourage parents to transport their child at public expense where cost-effective.
- (6) A written report of the recommendation, including the results of the evaluation, shall be forwarded to the board, the parent of the preschool student and to the municipality in which the preschool student resides. Such report shall include the reasons for such recommendation, including a statement of the reasons why less restrictive placements were not recommended, when the recommendation is for the provision of special education services in a setting with no regular contact where age-appropriate peers without disabilities are found and shall include all statements provided by the parent. If the recommendation of the committee differs from the expressed preference of the parent with respect to the frequency, duration or intensity of services, or with respect to more or less restrictive settings, the report shall include the reasons why the committee recommended a different program or service other than that preferred by the parent.

- (7) In the event that the parent does not choose to participate in the development of such recommendation, the committee shall forward its recommendation to the board of education and the parent as otherwise required in accordance with Section 200.4(d)(5) of this Part.
- (e) Provision of services for preschool students with disabilities. (1) Upon receipt of the recommendation of the committee, the board of education shall arrange for the preschool student with a disability to receive such programs and services commencing with the July, September or January starting date for the approved program, unless such services are recommended by the committee less than 30 school days prior to, or after, such appropriate starting date selected for such preschool student, in which case, such services shall be provided no later than 30 school days from the recommendation of the committee. If the board disagrees with the recommendation of the committee, it shall send the recommendation back to the committee with notice to the parent and the committee including a statement of the board of education's reasons and that the recommendation will be sent back to the committee with notice of the need to schedule a timely meeting to review the board's concerns and to revise the IEP as deemed appropriate.
- (2) The board of education shall notify the parent, the commissioner, the appropriate municipality and the preschool program or related services provider selected to provide the services of its approval. If the individualized education program (IEP) includes two or more related services, where possible, the board shall select from the list maintained by the municipality pursuant to Section 4410(9) of the Education Law, such related services providers that are employed by a single agency for the provision of such services. The board shall provide each related service provider with a copy of the individualized education program and the name and location of each related service provider. The board shall designate one of the service providers to coordinate the provision of the related services. If the IEP includes special education itinerant services and one or more related services, the special education itinerant service provider shall be responsible for the coordination of such services.
 - (i) A statement of the reasons for such determination shall be provided to the parent and the municipality.
 - (ii) If the board's determination is different from the parent's preference or the recommendation of the committee, the board shall provide the parent and the municipality with the reasons the board determined to provide a different program.

- (3) Upon receipt of the written notification of the approval by the board of education of the committee's recommendation, the municipality shall contract with the designated preschool program provider in a manner approved by the commissioner, pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law.
- (4) The board shall notify the parent, the appropriate municipality and the commissioner of its actions on behalf of a preschool student with a disability:
 - (i) if, based upon the recommendation of the committee, the board approved the preschool student's program or services;
 - (ii) if, based upon the recommendation of the committee the board approves that such program or services must be terminated because the preschool student with a disability has moved out of the school district; or
 - (iii) if, based upon the recommendation of the committee the board approves that a new municipality is responsible to contract with the provider for the same special education program and services because the preschool student with a disability has moved to a different municipality within the school district. The board shall issue a new written notice of determination for the same special education service or program effective the next school day which shall become the responsibility of the new municipality in which such student resides.
- (5) When a preschool student currently placed by another school district in an approved program moves into a new district, if the approved program is within a reasonable distance of such student's new school district of residence, the board of education shall issue a notice of determination to continue such program if the board approves the committee's recommendation that the program is appropriate to the student's needs.
- (f) Annual review. The individualized education program (IEP) of each preschool student with a disability shall be reviewed and, if appropriate, revised periodically but not less than annually in accordance with Section 200.4 (f)(1) through (3) of this Part. In any such meeting of the committee, the professional who participated in the evaluation shall upon request of the parent or committee, attend and participate at such meeting.
- (g) Procedural due process. (1) Prior notice of initial evaluation, review or reevaluation of a preschool student with a disability shall be made in accordance with Section 200.5(a)(1) through (4) and (5)(i), (ii), and (vii) of this Part.

- (3) In addition to the requirement of subparagraph (i) of this subdivision, the procedural safeguards notice shall also:
- (i) indicate that during the pendency of any proceedings conducted pursuant to this Part, those preschool students with disabilities who are receiving special education programs or services pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law shall remain in the then current education placement of such preschool student until all such proceedings have been completed, except as otherwise provided in Section 200.5(l) of this Part. Nothing in this subparagraph shall require that a student with a disability remain in a preschool program for which he or she is no longer eligible pursuant to Section 4410 of the Education Law during the pendency of any proceeding brought pursuant to this Part;
 - (ii) indicate that during the pendency of any proceedings conducted pursuant to this Part on behalf of a preschool student not described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, if the commissioner or local board of education and the parent(s) or legal guardian agree, the preschool student may receive those special education programs and services approved pursuant to this Section until all such proceedings have been completed;

- (vi) The commissioner may grant a waiver from any requirement in Sections 200.1, 200.6, and 200.16 of this Part, upon a finding that such waiver will enable a preschool program, as defined in Section 200.1 (nn) of this Part, to implement an innovative special program that is consistent with State law, applicable Federal requirements and all other sections of this Part, and will enhance student development and/or increase opportunities for preschool students with disabilities to interact with students without disabilities.
 - (a) Except as otherwise provided in clause (c) of this subparagraph, any preschool program as defined in Section 200.1 (nn) of this Part shall submit an application for a waiver at least 60 days in advance of the proposed starting date of the program. Such application shall be in a form prescribed by the commissioner.
 - (b) Except as otherwise provided in clause (c) of this subparagraph, any preschool program as defined in Section 200.1 (nn) of this Part granted a waiver shall submit an annual report to the commissioner regarding the operation

- (c) Any preschool program as defined in Section 200.1 (nn) of this Part granted a waiver for three consecutive school years may be granted a permanent waiver, upon a finding by the commissioner that the program has resulted in improved student achievement and/or enhanced opportunities for preschool students with disabilities to interact with students without disabilities and is consistent with State law and Federal requirements and all other Sections of this Part. A preschool program as defined in Section 200.1 (nn) of this Part that is granted a permanent waiver shall not be required to submit an annual application or an annual report. A permanent waiver shall continue until terminated in accordance with clause (d) of this subparagraph.
- (d) The commissioner may terminate a waiver granted pursuant to this subdivision upon a finding that the program has not met its stated objectives or upon a finding that the program is no longer consistent with any requirement of State or Federal law or provision of this Part not specifically waived in the approval granted pursuant to this subdivision. The commissioner shall provide at least 30 days notice of a proposed termination. The district, school or agency shall be afforded the opportunity to submit a written response to the proposed termination which addresses any deficiencies, provided that such response shall be submitted no later than 5 business days prior to the date of the proposed termination.
- (vii) Nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the committee from recommending or the board from selecting a special service or program for July and August, or the frequency, location or duration of a special service or program, which is different in type or intensity than the service or program that the child is provided between the months of September and June.
