The Office of Bilingual Education and World Languages (OBEWL) of the New York State Education Department (NYSED) presents the first workshop in its 2022 Professional Learning Series: Understanding Vocabulary Development in Standards-Based Teaching. This online workshop is offered free of charge for world language educators and administrators working or studying in New York State schools, colleges, universities, BOCES/RBERNs, or other educational institutions.

Workshop description: Vocabulary knowledge is the key to communication. No one can understand or be understood without it. In this session, participants will examine the role of vocabulary learning in proficiency development and explore the importance of vocabulary development in designing and implementing thematic units. Participants will learn research-informed strategies for identifying, presenting, and spiraling vocabulary to facilitate acquisition.

A recording of the workshop will be uploaded to the OBEWL website for on-demand viewing by those unable to attend virtually. Attendees of the online workshop will be provided with either a certificate of attendance or a CTLE Certificate. Those unable to attend the workshop on January 13th may earn a certificate by viewing the recording of the workshop on the OBEWL website and answering at least seven out of ten questions correctly on a multiple-choice post-assessment. No registration is necessary to view the recording of the workshop.

Registration process: A maximum of 950 pre-registrations will be accepted for this live workshop. Registration will close by January 11th; there will be no same-day registrations. Only pre-registered attendees will be admitted into the workshop. Requests will be processed on a rolling basis. Once the registrant's email address has been verified as being from a New York State school, college, or university, an email confirming their registration will be sent. Twenty-four hours prior to the event, all registered individuals will receive login instructions with the link to join the workshop.
